Sun Princess Cruise Ship to arrive tomorrow

Nearly 3,000 passengers and crew will arrive for one-day port call on Guam

Piti, Guam, October 25, 2011: The M/V Sun Princess will sail into Guam's harbor tomorrow morning bringing 2,791 passenger and crew to the island for a one-day visit.

The cruise vessel will arrive dockside at 8am Wednesday morning and will depart at 5pm the same day. Most of the passengers are from Australia. According to the ship's agent MSA, the cruise ship is sailing to Guam from Japan and will depart Guam for Papua New Guinea and then return to Brisbane, Australia on November 2nd. The Sun Princess voyage began on September 21st in Australia and has made stops at many locations including Brunei, Malaysia, China, Vietnam and Korea.

The Sun Princess will be met upon arrival by cultural dancers and passengers also will have the opportunity to experience cultural entertainment from local dancers upon departure tomorrow evening.
